A GOOD WORD FOR NEVADA

THE writer yesterday met an old friend, a native of Nevada, born just about the time that Nevada became a state, says Judge Goodwin in Goodwin's Weekly. He was red-eyed with wrath and a little questioning revealed that the cause of the wrath was the slurs which he constantly heard hurled at Nevada; that it was a desert state; a rotten borough; a reproach to the neighboring states, the one dim star in the shining galaxy of the union. "Say," he said, "why do you not sometime publish the real truth about Nevada?"

Then without pausing he continued in about this strain:

"Tell the men who cast reproaches upon Nevada that they are segregated idiots and know nothing of the state they affect to sneer at. Tell them that for more than half a century it has been the foremost of the mining states."

"That on the Comstock the miners wrought more miracles in mining and the reduction of ores than all the scientists of Europe and Spanish America had learned in 500 previous years; that they made mining and the reduction of ores a science and set the pace for mining all over the world; that what Nevada mines produced was the stay of the nation in the great war; that ever since, her mines have been a steady reinforcement, greater than from any other state, to the world's stock of money."

"That it has had the greatest mines, the greatest lawyers and industrial chieftains were called there; that the biggest fees ever heard of were paid the lawyers, that the gravest problems that ever confronted the industries of a people were presented and solved by the men in control; that the prettiest girls in the world were born and reared there; that the brightest group of men along the lines of endeavor congregated there, and by what they produced made an epoch in the entire financial world."

"Tell them that Nevada is still maintaining its ancient reputation; that about the richest gold mines in the world are being worked there and old districts are coming into bonanzas."

"Tell them that Nevada as an agricultural state is fast becoming a wonder, that ten years hence it will be raising more wheat than the Empire state; that it has the best climate under the sun, and the best and bravest people of all the forty-eight states, and that the man who sneers at Nevada is like the rabble around the cross, who, in pity, when dying, the Master prayed for because the segregated idiots did not know what they did."

"I tell you, you cannot make it too strong. And you may add that no where on this old earth can a braver, brighter, or more generous people be found than in Nevada."

WHAT FRANCE IS FIGHTING FOR

WHEN the mailed fist reached out from Berlin and strangled Paris a generation ago, it was but natural that revenge should be the motive of the French in the great world war today, in which that republic is acquitting itself so admirably.

But revenge is not the animating spirit of the French, nor do the Teutons cry: "Gott strafe France." It is a war in which all the anger and cupidity are felt by Germany and Britain. Holland is but a pawn to be swept from the path of the invading central powers. France a mere avenue of approach to the straits of Dover. Yet France, fighting so heroically and in such a matter of fact manner, has an inspiration in this contest. It is best expressed in the language of Premier Viviani:

"France is not a country to be preyed upon. She will not lay down her arms until after she has avenged outraged justice, consolidated forever with the fatherland the provinces ravaged by force, restored heroic Belgium and broken Prussian militarism in order to be able to reconstruct upon a foundation of civil right a regenerated Europe."

TONOPAH WILLING TO MAKE SACRIFICE

ONE dispatch says that the report that General Villa is dead was grossly exaggerated, while another regrets that it was so long deferred. It wouldn't matter much, except in the way of material benefit, if all of the Mexican leaders were to be "removed." It is a safe bet that not one peon in ten knows what he is fighting for, and also that not one leader in ten is able to estimate what would be his financial advantage if he could win just long enough to have a puppet president appointed for a few days.

Tonopah is not much interested in this anarchistic rampage, except for the fact that the longer it continues, the higher the price of silver will mount, owing to the mines there being kept closed by the rebellions and revolutions. But Tonopah people are less concerned with what they may profit out of the internecine strife that with what the loss in life and property may eventually total and we would be willing to make some sacrifice of silver price to bring an end to the wanton destruction, but there are no indications that the president of the United States is so liberal, and, besides, he has nothing to lose, not being interested in United States silver mines, so far as anybody knows.

SAN FRANCISCO HIDES THE TRUTH

THE Winnemucca newspapers report all earthquake shocks and do not minimize their damage, if there be any. That is the only honest way to treat of news of general interest. Meanwhile the San Francisco papers refuse to chronicle any of their shocks, when it is a well known fact that the bay city is the center of the disturbances. It is feared there that if there is publicity given to their quakes it will hurt business. It is hurting business more for the papers there to withhold news and have it trickled out to the world through correspondence. If San Francisco were to try just once to play fair, nobody would put any stock in its reports, for it has been too long given to coloring of its news to have anything sent out accepted as authoritative.
